A photograph of the exterior of a building at night. The most prominent feature is a large, illuminated sign that reads "Lee's Family Forum" in a white, serif font. The sign is mounted on a dark structure and glows with a bright white light. To the right of the text, there is a small, blue, triangular graphic element. Below the sign, a large glass window reflects the interior lights of the building, which appear as bright spots against the dark night sky. The overall scene is dark, with the primary light source being the sign itself.
